

Dr. Timothy Bradley is a Professor Emeritus of the Department of Ecology and Evolutionary Biology at the University of California, Irvine. Much of his research has been focused on salt lakes, including Mono Lake and the Salton Sea. He is the founding director of the UC Irvine Salton Sea Initiative, and a member of the State of California Natural Resources Agency Salton Sea Scientific Advisory Committee.